

“Tourney Time: Massive Attractions” Instructions

The Concept: The players will fill out a tournament bracket to determine which tourist attraction in the contest is the tallest.

Items Needed: Tournament handout (included as a separate PDF file)

Instructions: This is an individual game. Print out the blank brackets and pass them out to the group. After a brief introduction, pictures of the attractions are shown. The eighth slide will tell you to take a minute to fill out the bracket. At this point, stop and wait for the group to complete their sheets. Here are a few tidbits about some of the attractions that you may want to share with your group:

Statue of Liberty – The base is included in our calculation of the height

Top Thrill Dragster – One of the tallest roller coasters in the world

St Patrick’s Cathedral – The largest Catholic cathedral in the United States

Mother Russia Statue – The tallest statue in all of Russia

London Eye – The largest observation wheel in the world

Arc de Triomphe – Where the Tour de France ends every year

Once your group has finished filling out the bracket, continue on with the game. You may want to have some of your leaders/counselors walk around the group to make sure the brackets have been filled out – we don’t want any cheating.

It will show face offs between each of the sets of attractions in each round. After each round is finished, an updated bracket is shown so the group can check their answers and catch up if they fell behind.

There are some optional screens at the end of the game that show the height of each attraction. You can show these if you think your group will be interested in how they all measured up.

Scoring: You can score it anyway you want. You may just want to give one point for each right answer for the whole bracket. Another way to score it is one point for each correct answer in the sweet sixteen round, two points for the elite eight, three points for the final four, and four points for picking the champion.

Any questions or problems please email: service@pointmangames.com